For five years, the Clothing Closet has helped hundreds of people involved in the court system by enabling them to supplement their wardrobes with clothing appropriate for job interviews, community service, and special occasions.

The gently used (and sometimes new) donated items cover everything from children's clothes and shoes to men's and women's work attire and formal wear.

Come see how far it's come in five years!

Created in 2013, the Clothing Closet was named in memory of Judge Susan J. Aramony, a strong advocate of children and families who passed away that same year.
